

To Whom It May Concern:

I would like to voice my opinion on the CBA's challenge of the Indiana's Telephone Privacy Law. Please deny them their exception. Life is too short to have to deal with more unnecessary phone calls from business selling more services. If we already have an "established business relationship" with the company, we have their numbers. A consumer in good standing with the company should have the right to not be contacted unnecessarily.

Please take my comments into consideration, and thank you for your time.

Heather Mason